

Christmas Morning

The children woke up,
with excitement and cheer.
They've been waiting for this,
the entire long year.

They ran downstairs,
yelling out loud.
The giggling and jumping,
attracted a crowd.

Santa's empty milk glass,
they simply ran by.
To their smiling parents,
they forgot to say hi.

Shiny gift wrappers were torn,
in all directions went flying.
The baby was confused,
which resulted in crying.

Their parents were happy,
and accepted the noise.
They were thrilled to watch,
their kids with their toys.

It was a wonderful morning,
the family spent time.
Shared simple acts of kindness,
just like this rhyme.
